

It all clicked when I threw the opening pitch

As I was walking, I heard the man in the couple coming up ahead talking to the woman about the "first pitch." The article had happened to be featured on Google News the day before, so I glanced at the image and was able to clearly understand what the man was saving.

Ai , so... it's that one team, right?

If it was any other team, they'd get in trouble...

Your recent activities have been amazing...

I'd love to see your photobook...

(Even though I always see the same faces...?)