

Who get deeply involved

Since you always do things formally, please do so formally in writing, without any emotional involvement.

(List of good deeds done today)

- ① Picked up trash at a store and disposed of it.
- ② Helped a bicycle upright. It was clearly out on the road and had fallen due to strong winds, so I judged there was no fault in it.
- ③ Used a trick related to postal services (helped someone in need).

However, using this technique to make a profit in business...is a crime.

As someone who advocates for legal activities...I also know the techniques of illegal activities, and that is clearly recognized as a qualification in the information field.

To become a white hat hacker, one must be well-versed in the techniques of black hat hackers...that is only natural and a way of dealing with it.

By the way, Ichiro's weight during his time as a Major Leaguer was 75kg.

He looked slim, but he was very muscular.

My current weight is... 78kg